For Prospective California Educators

State of California
Commission on Teacher Credentialing

Certification Requirements for California Educators

Teachers must be certified by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC) in order to be employed by a California public school. Once an individual completes all requirements for certification in California, he or she may apply for and receive a California teaching credential.

The Commission issues credentials for other educational occupations requiring state certification, including child development teachers, counselors and school psychologists, school nurses, librarians, and administrators. Please contact a California college or university with the appropriate program.

Certification for Teachers Prepared in California

If you complete a teacher preparation program in California, formal recommendation from the California college or university where you completed the program is required.

California-prepared applicants may not apply directly to CCTC for a teaching credential. If you plan to complete a teacher preparation program in California, you must contact a California college or university with a Commission-accredited teacher preparation program. You will be provided with information about the specific requirements needed to complete a teacher preparation program. While all Commission-accredited programs have comparable requirements, specific requirements will vary from program to program.

Alternative Teacher Certification Routes Available in California

A number of programs that provide alternative routes to certification are available in California. These programs include college internships and district internships.

Certification for Teachers Prepared Outside of California

Teachers who have received their professional preparation outside of California may apply directly to CCTC once they have met California's requirements for certification. Because some of California's certification requirements are specific to this state, our regulations allow out-of-state teachers to postpone completion of some of the requirements so they can begin teaching in California with little delay.

California offers a variety of options to certification for teachers who are trained outside of California.

These options vary depending upon if you have completed only your credential program or if you have actual teaching experience outside of California.

- A credential application (form 41-4)
- An application for Character and Identification Clearance (form 41-CIC)
- Livescan receipt (41-LS) or two completed CCTC fingerprint cards (FD-258)
- Official transcripts of all college course work
- All applicable fees

Emergency Permits Available in California

The Commission does issue an emergency permit for substitute teaching. This emergency permit is not restricted to any one employer, and it authorizes an individual to teach for one year, but for no more than 30 days for any one teacher.

Under certain conditions, CCTC allows some education agencies in California to apply for emergency teaching permits on behalf of partially trained teachers they wish to employ. Please contact an employer for more information.
